

Imaging processes are changing. Is your training keeping up?

Imaging technology has rapidly moved from analog into digital. As with any change, this has presented challenges in maintaining a current hazard communication training program. PMA®, in conjunction with Envision Compliance, has developed the most up-to-date health and safety training program to assist you in meeting these changing training needs.

Unlike other programs, our new video contains actual footage from both digital processing and wet chemistry operations. To help meet your training needs, complete training kits are available and the training video is offered in several language options.

Visit us online at www.pmairegs.org to watch a preview of the new training video and learn how to order the most up-to-date training program for our industry. You can also contact PMA Business Resources at (800) 762-9287.

OSHA Hazard Communication Program (applicable to U.S. only)

Offers English and Spanish versions of the training video; complete Hazard Communication training kit with either video or DVD.

WHMIS Hazard Communication Program (applicable to Canada only)

Offers English and French versions of the training video; complete WHMIS training kit with either video or DVD.

Keep up with tomorrow. Order the program today that best suits your needs.
